Part of being a CAHPS freshman is completing a service project, and we're doing ours with The Maslow Project. The Maslow Project is a non-profit organization that helps aid homeless children, teens and families with kids ages 0-21. The Maslow Project is in need of a few things this winter that we are helping to supply. We are placing bins in the main offices of your school and are asking for donations of hand warmers, gloves and gently used or new socks. Please drop off donations by Jan. 25th. Thank you.

RCC's Driver's Training for Winter term begins in January! Call 541-956-7116 or www.rogucc.edu/DriverEd/ for more information. Flyers are available at the BIS office.

GSA leadership conference Friday, January 26th. The event will last from 10 - 3 pm at Southern Oregon University. Lotus Rising Project is teaming up with SOU's Queer resource center, GLSEN, and Oregon Safe Schools Community Coalition. There will be no cost to attend. The conference will be open to all students, advisors, and administration. We plan to have workshops geared towards students and advisor/admin. Lunch will be provided.

NHS tutoring is now up and running! Tutoring services are available every Wednesday from 4-5 in the Crater library. The only exception to this would be if there is no school on that day. Services are free. Students do not need to pre-register. Also, if a student just needs a space to work after school, they are encouraged to attend.
